

DeZiel Heating & A/C, putting people first

By Brenda Erdahl

For 24 years DeZiel Heating & A/C has been Wright County and the West Metro's go to company for all their HVAC needs and they continue to grow and improve.

In 2020 they upgraded to a new, larger facility just east of Buffalo and now they are growing their staff, putting more technicians and installers out on the roads to better serve their customers.

Dana and Mike DeZiel have owned and operated DeZiel Heating & A/C since 1998. Their technicians are vigorously trained in the most cutting-edge technology and safety. Together they will keep your equipment properly maintained and in working order.

Putting people first

As much as DeZiel strives for happy customers, and there are a lot of them as evidenced by their many positive reviews on Google and Facebook, they are just as motivated about their employee's happiness and well-being. Someone who loves their job, after all, is more likely to do it better. To that end, DeZiel has created a working environment that is fun, positive, and productive. Take for instance their chicken project. About two years ago they dedicated a portion of their 10-acre facility to a chicken coop. Now, every week, a willing employee volunteers to take care of the chickens and in return they get to bring home the eggs. The chickens were so well received, it wasn't long before the employees were requesting more animals. Now they have a pair of goats - Cohiba (Coco) and Montecristo (Monte) - that employees can visit if they ever just need to step outside for a minute. The facility is also equipped with an outdoor picnic area and walking trails.

Community Minded

That concern for people extends to their communities. On August 19, they will sponsor the Movie in the Park in Maple Lake. The City of Maple Lake has teamed up with sponsors like DeZiel to bring the movie series to the Community Park. On August 19, they will be showing Disney's "Cars" at dusk. Dana assures they will come up with some fun activities for the kids and maybe prizes, but they are still in the planning stages. She encourages all to stop by for a fun evening outdoors.

A Member of the Buffalo Community

DeZiel has strong ties to the Buffalo Community even though in 2020 they moved out of the business district to a more rural setting. To show their continued commitment to the city, they have acquired their own buffalo that will soon join the herd of colorful statues that dot the landscape in and around the town. Their buffalo, however, isn't quite ready for display yet. He needs paint and more importantly a name. Plans are to paint him to look like a DeZiel technician with khaki pants and shirt adorned with an American flag on one sleeve and a name tag on the other. They plan to hold a coloring/name that buffalo contest in the coming weeks. Look for the coloring sheet and contest rules to appear in an upcoming edition of the Maple Lake Messenger.

Jake Koppendrager is one of a team of Customer Service Reps available at DeZiel Heating & A/C to answer questions or make an appointment for you today call 763-684-3965 for an appointment or visit DeZiel Heating & A/C at www.dezielhvac.com for more information.

Service Partner Plan

DeZiel Heating & A/C remains committed to customer satisfaction and safety. To that end, they make it easy for customers to remember to have their heating and A/C systems checked regularly by offering a service partner plan for $9.99 a month. By becoming a service partner, customers receive a reminder call every fall and spring. DeZiel recommends equipment be inspected once a year to maintain maximum efficiency.

The cost of the program covers two system checks per year. Members also receive a 10 percent discount on parts and become a priority customer. If a problem does arise, DeZiel Heating & A/C has someone available 24 hours to fix it. Being certified NATE, which stands for North American Technician Excellence, means DeZiel technicians can offer a faster and more accurate diagnosis.

Indoor Air Quality

DeZiel also offers Indoor Air Quality (IAQ) protection packages that include duct cleaning and a variety of indoor air quality solutions such as humidifiers, air cleaners, UV lights and air exchangers. Currently, DeZiel is offering $350 off an IAQ package. Call the office for more details at 763-684-3965.

Employment Opportunities

The DeZiel crew is always looking for new members to add to their heating and A/C family. They are hiring for a variety of positions, so if you are looking for a career change, give them a call.

Make an appointment today

For more information visit DeZiel Heating & A/C at www.dezielhvac.com or call 763-684-3965 for an appointment.

DeZiel's flock of chickens is a nice distraction for employees during the workday. Employees like Office Administrator Megan Brown volunteer a week at a time to care for the company's chickens and in return, they get to keep the eggs they collect.

There is also an outdoor picnic area and trails. Cohiba, Coco for short is one of two goats that employees interact with and care for on their breaks.

This buffalo will soon join the herd of colorful statues that dot the landscape in and around town, but first it needs a name. DeZiel's name that Buffalo contest submission form is in Issue 45 of the Maple Lake Messenger. Good Luck!

Young anglers love the easy bite on

Eagle Lake

By Joe Stewig

Area Fisheries Manager

As with many lakes in the area, Eagle Lake is probably best known for its largemouth bass fishery. They are relatively abundant; however, the average size is small. The catch in 2016 (84/hr) was nearly two times higher than the average (43.3/hr) day-time catch for lakes in the Sauk Rapids Management Area. Bass ranged in length from 5.0 to 18.7 inches and averaged 9 ½ inches and about ¼ pound. Thirty-three percent of the bass sampled were longer than 12 inches and 19 percent were longer than 15 inches. Growth was average; taking four years to reach 12 inches.

Black crappies are present in Eagle Lake; however, they are not overly abundant. Gill net catches of black crappies have ranged from 1.0 – 4.5/net with a long-term average of 2.4/net. The catch in 2016 (1.5/net) was similar to the past two surveys but below the range of what we would expect to see for similar lakes. The trap net catch was also low and like the gill nets, the catch was below what we would expect to see for similar lakes. In 2016, only 24 crappies were caught, and they ranged from 7.1 – 10.8 inches with an average length of nine inches. Fifty-eight percent of the crappies caught were longer than eight inches and 42 percent were longer than 10 inches. Growth is average; taking four years to reach eight inches.

Bluegill abundance is average for the area, but the average size is relatively small. Trap net catches have ranged from 15.3 – 34.4/net with a long-term average of 27.7/net. The catch in 2016 (34.4/net) was highest on record. Four hundred fifty-eight bluegills were sampled in 2016 and ranged in length from 3.2 inches to 8.1 inches with an average length of 6.1 inches. Sixty-four percent of the bluegills sampled were longer than six inches while just 0.2 percent were eight inches or longer. Based on the most recent survey, anglers should have plenty of action but will have to either lower their standards or be willing to sort. This would be a good lake to get young kids started in fishing as they should see plenty of action.

The lake was originally stocked with walleye back in 1948 and the Eagle Lake: Eagle Lake is a 244-acre lake located about five miles west of Monticello in Wright County. The lake is a recreational development lake that is heavily developed. Water quality is moderate with an average summer water clarity of just under seven feet. The lake has a public access on the north-east side of the lake with enough parking for 8-10 vehicle/trailer combos. Eagle Lake is another typical bass/pan-fish lake that gets stocked with walleye.

population is sustained through fingerling stocking during even numbered years. Walleye gill net catches have ranged from 1.5 – 6.7/net with a long-term average of 3.5/net. The catch in 2016 (1.5/net) was the lowest on record. The low catch is likely attributed to fewer numbers of walleye being stocked over the last few stockings due to lack of fingerling availability. Walleye sampled ranged in length from 7.6 – 19 ½ inches with an average length and weight of 13 inches and about a pound. Thirty-six percent of the walleye caught were 15 inches or longer and none over 20 inches were sampled. Walleyes are not abundant in the lake, but they are still at a level that gives anglers an opportunity to catch one or two.

Northern Pike have never been abundant in Eagle Lake. Gill net catches have ranged from 1.2 – 6.2/net with a long-term average of 4.5/net which is within the range of expected values for similar lakes. The gill net catch in 2016 (1.2/net) was the lowest on record. Only 12 northern pike were sampled in 2016 ranged in length from 17 – 35 ½ inches with an average length and weight of 25 inches and just under four pounds. Growth is slow; taking five years to reach 21 inches. In 2018, new statewide northern pike regulations were put in place to allow anglers to harvest up to 10 northern pike of which only two can be over 26 inches in lakes within the North-Central Zone (excluding lakes with existing Experimental/Special regulations). All pike between 22 and 26 inches (inclusive) must however be immediately released. Anglers are encouraged to harvest smaller fish.

There are no special fishing regulations or invasive species found on or in Eagle Lake.

How to get rid of Wild Parsnip

By Emily Hanson, University of Minnesota Extension

In the 1990s, the non-native plant, Wild Parsnip was first discovered in Minnesota and landed itself on the Minnesota Noxious Weed List due to its aggressive spread and physical harm to humans. Correctly identifying wild parsnip is key to controlling and reporting it to the Minnesota Department of Agriculture.

Wild Parsnip usually finds its habitat on roadsides and abandoned fields or lots. It usually grows in dry soil with full to partial sun needed.

Wild Parsnip is commonly confused with two Minnesota natives: Golden alexanders and Goldenrods.

Golden alexanders reach one to two feet tall and have smooth shiny stems that produce compound basal leaves. The flower contains compound umbels of numerous 5-parted, yellow flowers.

Goldenrods have tansy foliage that is pinnately divided and the flowers have ray petals surrounding central, disk-like florets.

There are some key differences in correctly identifying Wild Parsnip. The noxious weed has a grooved stalk that can reach up to five feet. The basal leaves are pinnately compound with five to 15 leaflets with the base of the leaf stalk wrapping around the grooved stem. Wild Parsnip has Wild Parsnip is a noxious weed that can be harmful to people.

12-35, five-petaled, small yellow flowers. The yellow petals remain tightly curled against the side of the flowers. Comparing the two lookalikes with these characteristics of Wild Parsnip will determine if a report needs to be made.

Due to the Minnesota Noxious Weed Law, efforts must be made to prevent seed maturation and the spread of Wild Parsnip. There is no transportation, propagation, or sale of these plants allowed.

Control of Wild Parsnip will depend on the time of year. It is best to mow, to prevent flowering, from May to July. It is important to pay attention to the seed. If the seed is present, do not mow from July to November. There are foliar herbicides that can be applied during the foliar stage between May and June or September through October.

It is important to note that Wild Parsnip is dangerous to humans and is not recommended to be handpicked. It is critical to always wear protective clothing, goggles, or a face mask. Contact with the sap of Wild Parsnip combined with exposure to sunlight can cause severe blistering and swelling. Seek medical attention if you come in contact with this weed.

To report Wild Parsnip, contact the Minnesota Department of Agriculture, through Report a Pest, at 1-888-545-6684. Leave a detailed message that includes your name, location, contact number, and the type of pest that you want to report. The voicemail will be forwarded to the agency in charge of that pest.

Bear sightings abound around Maple Lake

Tips to avoid Bear Conflicts

This roaming bear, dubbed Roman by residents in rural Maple Lake, entered Emilie Newkirk's yard in Silver Creek and made a bee line for these bird feeders. Up on his hind legs, he posed for a quick picture then snatched a bird feeder and pulled it to the ground for an easy meal.

Around the yard

- Any time you feed birds you risk attracting bears. Avoid feeding birds from April 1 to Nov. 15. If you still wish to feed birds, hang birdfeeders 10 feet up and 4 feet out from the nearest trees.
- Do not put out feed for wildlife (like corn, oats, pellets or molasses blocks).
- Do not leave food from barbeques and picnics outdoors, especially overnight. Standard coolers are not bear-proof. Clean and store barbeque grills in a secure shed or garage away from windows and doors after each use.
- Harvest garden produce as it matures, pick any fruit left on trees and collect any fallen fruit. Locate gardens away from forests and shrubs that bears may use for cover.
- Store pet food inside and feed pets inside. If pets must be fed outdoors, feed them only as much as they will eat.

Garbage

- Store garbage in bear-resistant garbage cans or dumpsters. Standard rubber or plastic garbage cans are not bear-proof.
- Keep garbage inside a secure building until the morning of pickup.
- Properly rinse all recyclable containers with hot water to remove all remaining product.
- Store recyclable containers, such as pop cans, inside.

If bear problems persist after cleaning up food sources, contact a DNR area wildlife office for advice. For the name of the local wildlife manager, contact the DNR Information Center at 651-296-6157 or 888-646-6367, or find wildlife area office contact information on the DNR website. To report a bear sighting go to www.dnr.state.mn.us/hunting/bear/bear-sightings.html.

The Maple Lake MESSENGER

By Brenda Erdahl

Emilie Newkirk grew up in rural Maple Lake and has seen plenty wild animals pass through the yard. Over the years she has enjoyed pheasants, wild turkey, and even opossums, but she's never had a visit from a bear, until two weeks ago.

It was around 9 a.m. Wednesday, June 22, when the small black bear came to visit. She later learned he was likely enticed from the woods by the buffet of bird feeders in the yard. It's her parents' home, she explained, and her mother likes to watch and identify the birds as they treat themselves to an easy meal. Other animals, like squirrels like easy meals as well and they've eaten their fair share of bird seed, she said, but seeing a bear was a completely new and unexpected experience.

"I thought, am I seeing what I think I'm seeing," she said.

She grabbed her camera and started taking pictures through the patio door and the bear didn't seem to mind, in fact, he put on a bit of a show.

"It was funny, in some of the pictures it looks like he's posing," she said.

Her Golden Doodle Sophie didn't think the morning visitor was funny or interesting, in fact the dog was so nervous and barking so frantically, Newkirk was fearful to let her out of the house even after the bear had gone. Just to be on the safe side, she called animal control and reported the incident. They told her the best way to get rid of the bear was to get rid of the bird feeders.

The bird feeders did seem to be the source of the bear's interest. He ended up pulling down two of them and in one of the pictures she captured, the bear appears to be sneaking off into the woods with a bird feeder in his mouth.

Newkirk isn't the only area resident who has had a close encounter with a bear this spring. A few weeks earlier, a Maple Lake Township resident woke up to find bear tracks on her patio. Another sighting was reported near a residence on Cedar Lake in Monticello Township. On June 23, the morning after Newkirk saw her bear, Tara Lukach reported on Facebook that she saw a small black bear south of Silver Creek on County Road 39 just west of the intersection of County Road 11. She said it was trying to cross the road to go south toward Maple Lake but turned and ran when it saw cars. Another bear was spotted between Hasty and Clearwater.

"the best way to avoid conflict is to not attract them, once a bear finds a food source, it will return repeatedly."

Gloria Colbenso who also lives in the area wrote a charming first-person narrative from the viewpoint of the bear after seeing Newkirk's post and has named the bear Roman. In her narrative she echoed the advice long given by the Department of Natural Resources to help humans and bears safely co-exist.

"I'm always on the hunt for food and casual walks. If you see me don't chase me. I like to be left alone for your safety and mine," she wrote. "If you see me, just wave, and maybe give me a name in case I pass through again. I just ask that you don't bother me, so nobody gets hurt."

Bears are typically thought to be more common in the forests of Northern Minnesota, but according to Nicholas Snavely, the Assistant Area Wildlife Manager for Minnesota DNR, Sauk Rapids office, black bears have increased in numbers in central Minnesota over the last five to 10 years. Most close encounters around homes or in higher human density neighborhoods stem from bears feeding on opportunistic human provided foods like bird feeders, dog and cat food left unattended and barbeque grills.

He said typically, bears prefer not to be near people, but the attraction of high calorie and easily available food is many times irresistible. Black bears, the only species to live in the wild in Minnesota, are usually shy and flee when encountered. But the DNR warns to never approach or try to pet a bear. Injury to people is rare, but bears are potentially dangerous because of their size, strength, and speed.

If a bear exhibits dangerous behavior, call 911, Snavely said.

According to the DNR, a bear must exhibit out of the ordinary threatening behavior, injury or death to livestock or damage to buildings before the DNR considers intervening by trapping or shooting it. In all cases where this is initiated the bear is killed. It is not moved to another area.

Snavely said it is unreasonable to kill a bear because it is responding to food sources provided by people. But that does not mean that the Minnesota DNR is not concerned about people's safety from bears, he said. Black bears are protected animals that are subject to a hunting season in the late summer and early fall.

Bear and human conflicts often happen in the spring. As bears emerge from hibernation, their metabolism gradually ramps up and they will begin looking for food at a time when berries and green vegetation are scarce. According to Bearwise.org, male bears can roam up to 300 square miles looking for food, shelter and mates and they travel the farthest in the spring when food is harder to find.

When bears are out roaming, the best way to avoid conflict is to not attract them, once a bear finds a food source, it will return repeatedly.

Storm damaged tree cleanup

By Brenda Erdahl

Cleanup following a storm can be an overwhelming task for homeowners. If trees have been damaged, knowing which to save and which to remove can enhance people's safety and the survival of remaining trees, according to the Minnesota Department of Natural Resources.

Addressing damaged trees

Do: Use caution when approaching damaged trees. If there are downed wires, stay clear and call 911.

Carefully inspect standing trees for damage and address hazardous trees first. Hazardous trees have detached or loosely hanging branches and split or cracked trunks that can cause injury or damage to property.

Remove trees if more than 50 percent of the trunk or live branches in the crown are damaged, the tree is unnaturally leaning or roots are damaged, or the tree could injure people or damage property. If you're unsure if a tree should be removed or can be saved, consult with a certified arborist.

Assess the size of the tree and pruning job and play it safe. Consult a certified arborist on medium and large branches, or whole tree removal.

Use proper pruning techniques to remove small, broken limbs by cutting just outside the branch collar, but limit pruning to the minimum amount necessary to address safety risks. Too much pruning can weaken an already stressed tree – and many trees are stressed due to last year's drought.

Use caution when approaching storm damaged trees. If there are downed wires, stay clear and dial 911.

Make sure damaged trees get rain or are watered weekly to help them repair and rebuild. Be careful not to overwater, especially in heavy clay soils – the equivalent of 1 inch per week is ideal.

Monitor damaged trees in upcoming years to make sure they don't decay or become a hazard.

Be rushed by promises of bargains from inexperienced or unqualified tree service providers. Ask for references and proof of insurance.

Don't: Repair a broken branch or fork of a tree with tape, wire, bolts or other wraps. The wound will not heal, and the split will invite decay and further weaken the tree. Cabling or bracing should only be performed by a certified arborist and inspected annually.

Remove the tops of trees. This makes the tree more susceptible to insects and disease and promotes the growth of new branches that are weakly attached.

Apply paint or dressing to wounds, as these materials interfere with a tree's natural wound sealing process.

Remove small, leaning trees. Trees less than 15 feet tall may survive if they are gently pulled back into place.

Press out air spaces in the loosened soil. The tree can then be staked for up to a year.

Fertilize stressed or damaged trees. Fertilizer can trigger rapid but weak growth and deplete the tree's energy reserves that are needed to recover from damage.

Information on tree care, proper pruning techniques and handling damaged trees is available at mndnr.gov/TreeCare/Maintenance/StormDamage-Prevention.html. For more extensive information on tree care, contact a DNR forester, city forester, certified arborist, or county extension staff.

Irish Anglers fish Mink and Somer Lakes

Ethan Padilla caught this 17 1/2 inch bass for an honorable mention.

Karson Krautbauer reeled in this fine fish on Mink and Somers.

Jeremiah Schafer and his partner Landon Holland secured first place by landing four bass.

By Brenda Erdahl

Twelve Irish Anglers cast off on Mink and Somers Lakes Wednesday, July 13 to see wet their lines and see what they could find. The team of Landon Holland and Jeremiah Schafer had the big catch of the evening for first place. Holland pulled in three bass – 13 1/2 inches, 12 1/2 inches and 16 inches – and Schafer reeled in a 14- and 15-inch bass.

More fish were caught by Captain Dan Peterson's crew of Hayden Pagel and Michael Bellingar. Pagel hauled in a pair of bass – 13 and 12 1/2 inches- and Belanger caught a 16 3/4 inch bass and a 12 1/2 inch bass for second place.

Other notable catches came from Brolin Chlan who netted a 29-inch Northern Pike and Ethan Padilla who landed a 17 1/2 inch bass.

A big thanks goes out to the team's Platinum Sponsor the Maple Lake American Legion and all parents and volunteers, Captain Eric Chlan said.

Helpful tips for picking and cutting watermelon

Contributed Report

Watermelon is a summer-time staple. Each summer, stores and farm stands have an abundance of watermelons on display, and many people feel no picnic or barbecue is complete without watermelon.

The key to a tasty watermelon is knowing how to pick one that is ripe, while serving watermelon comes down to understanding some easy cutting strategies.

- Choose a watermelon that has a firm, symmetrical shape. Avoid melons with bumps, dents or cuts.

- Watermelons should be relatively heavy. They're 92 percent water, and that juicy-ness should be reflected in a substantial weight for the melon's size.

- Look for a creamy yellow spot on the underside of the watermelon. This is called the "ground spot." It indicates where the melon sat on the ground and ripened in the sun. Once cut from the vine, a watermelon has about three to four weeks to be consumed.

- All parts of the watermelon are edible, including the seeds and rind. The rind can be pickled or cut up to use in stir-fry dishes.

When bringing watermelon to an event, it is a courtesy to bring it already sliced or cut up. This ensures the host or hostess does not have to tackle what can sometimes be a chore. Here are three techniques to cut a watermelon easily.

Cubes

1. Cut both ends off of the watermelon.
2. Stand the watermelon on one sliced end. Use the knife to slice down and cut off the rind.
3. After removing the rind from all sides of the melon, cut into discs about 1/2-inch in thickness.
4. Then cut those discs into cubes.

Slices

1. Cut watermelon in half lengthwise.
2. Take half and place cut-side down.
3. Cut the watermelon into slices.
4. Repeat for the other half.

Strips

1. Cut watermelon as you would with the slices. Rather than leaving it in large slices, turn the watermelon and cut the same size slices in the opposite direction. This creates strips that are easy for kids to grab and maneuver.
2. Repeat with the other half.
