CONGRATS
ON YOUR GRADUATION!
CLASS OF 2024

Bernatello's Foods

bernatellos.com - 200 Congress St W Maple Lake, MN

To the graduating class of 2024

On behalf of the Maple Lake School Board, administration, staff, and the Maple Lake community, I extend our congratulations to each of you on your graduation from Maple Lake High School. We sincerely hope that the time you spent in the Maple Lake Public School District has not only created many positive friendships and memories that will last a lifetime, but has also built a solid foundation and prepared you for success in your next steps in life. As you wrap up your high school career, you are likely filled with a myriad of emotions. You may feel a sense of excitement, sadness, anticipation, relief, pride, or many others at different times through these last days. You will share memories from your past years of elementary and high school and remember all the experiences that have made you the Maple Lake High School graduating class of 2024. All of this is normal as you begin transitioning to the next phase of your life.

On the evening of Commencement, you will receive a diploma, which is a symbol of accomplishment and approval. You have met the requirements to graduate from high school, and are ready for the next challenges and opportunities life will present. I am certain you have the skills and knowledge it takes to meet those challenges head on.

Dave Hansen
Principal
MAPLE LAKE HIGH SCHOOL

Following high school, whether you choose to go directly to the workforce, join the military, or attend some form of post-secondary education, one thing is certain: Your education does not end when you receive your high school diploma. There is no doubt you will receive training and education throughout your working career. Embrace learning! You are never too old to learn new things. Read, research, and explore new opportunities. Engage in experiences to help you learn about other people, cultures, or ways of doing things. Put down your phone and other technology and see the world around you! Have a growth mindset where you embrace challenges and view mistakes as opportunities to learn.

As you move on to this next phase of life, I would like to leave you with some advice. William H. McRaven, a retired Admiral from the United States Navy, was asked in 2014 to give the commencement speech for the University of Texas. His speech was so well received that he eventually turned the speech into a book titled, Make Your Bed: Little Things That Can Change Your Life ...And Maybe The World. His advice is still fitting today.

Mr. McRaven's book includes ten pieces of advice to change yourself and possibly the world. Those ten things are:

1. Start your day with a task completed.
2. You can't go it alone.
3. Only the size of your heart matters.
4. Life's not fair – drive on!
5. Failure can make you stronger.
6. You must dare greatly.
7. Stand up to bullies.
8. Rise to the occasion.
9. Give people hope.
10. Never, ever quit! (McRaven, W.H)

McRaven relates these ten nuggets of advice to experiences he had in his military training. His advice can be applied to yourself and can truly make a positive impact on the trajectory of your life. Start your day out on the right foot by accomplishing small tasks which eventually lead to big things. Find other people to help and support you in your career and life. Kindness matters! The sooner you realize that life is not always fair, the better off you'll be. Learn from your mistakes. Take risks! Don't let people walk all over you or anybody else! Stand up for others. Support others. Step up to the plate and give it your all. When you are down on your luck or have experienced defeat, learn from it and try again. Take responsibility for your actions, listen to and thank others, and give back to individuals and society. If you do the simple things, you will be setting yourself up for success in life. When you look back over these past twelve years of your education, you can identify many people who have been supporting you and cheering for your success. Your parents, grandparents, teachers, and coaches are likely at the top of that list. Be that same kind of person, provide that same kind of support for someone else.

Past Maple Lake graduates have proven that we can all do great things. Our graduates have helped invent CPR, created multimillion-dollar businesses, compassionately cared for the needs of others, invented useful products, written books, ministered to others, supported others in times of need, and done countless other, ordinary and extraordinary things. You, too, have the ability to change the lives of others and perhaps even the world.

Class of 2024, enjoy your last times together as the Maple Lake High School graduating class of 2024. You are leaving Maple Lake High School with a top-notch education. You have learned skills that will make you successful throughout your life. We are proud to honor you as our newest alumni of Maple Lake High School. We congratulate you and offer you our best wishes for a successful future. Now go out in this great big world, and show us what you are made of.

You have got this!

You Have a Bright Future

- CLASS OF 2024 -

Triple 'A' Award winners

Fynboh, Lind named local recipients

Only seniors with a 3.0 grade point average or higher who excel in academics, athletics and fine arts can attain the status of Triple 'A' winner for their school for a shot at a state level award.

In Maple Lake, those seniors are Kass Fynboh and Nick Lind.

Fynboh and Lind, academic leaders of this year's senior class, were chosen to represent Maple Lake High School in the 36th annual Minnesota State High School League sponsored Academics, Arts and Athletics competition, commonly known as Triple 'A'.

Maple Lake Triple 'A' winners were recognized at a banquet in January, along with nominees from 12 other schools in Sub-Section 17. The banquet is also a competition where nominees are judged on their applications and a short speech. The winners go on to the Region 5 banquet for a chance at the Triple 'A' Award On-Court Recognition Ceremony at the Boys' State Basketball Tournament in March and a shot at a $4,000 scholarship.

Academics

Fynboh maintains a 4.021 GPA while undertaking a rigorous workload including numerous college classes as she prepares for graduation and continued education at the University Minnesota, Twin Cities in Material Science and Engineering.

Her favorite class is physics, and she credits her physics teacher Mrs. Melissa Pearson for inspiring her love and further pursuit of science and engineering.

Fynboh said she enjoys school - both the educational and social aspect of it - and said, "it gives me something to do, otherwise, I'd just be sitting at home."

Lind maintains a 3.8 GPA and undertakes a rigorous workload of college classes. He plans on majoring in Respiratory Therapy at the University of Mary in North Dakota.

He said he enjoys school for the most part. He likes the challenge of it and seeing friends on a day-to-day basis. He said his favorite class right now is anatomy and physiology, but his favorite class ever is psychology. It was Mrs. Dawn Klambunde, his high school psyche class teacher who steered him toward his major. He thought about majoring in psychology, but it would mean more time in school than he wants to spend, he said.

Arts

Fynboh has been a part of the band program since the fifth grade. She is currently a member of the jazz band, concert, and marching bands. She joined the student council in the seventh grade where she currently holds the position of treasurer and has contributed to the Irish Mentors program since her junior year. She has also been in the honor society since the eighth grade.

She said she likes organizing events and programs for her fellow students as part of student council and she loves the variety of people she's met through band. She plays percussion and was recently selected to the Honor Band that performed earlier this month at St. Scholastica in Duluth. She has also seen success at large group band contests where one year the Maple Lake crew took home a superior rating, she said.

Lind has sung in the school choir ever since his elementary days at St. Timothy's and he continues today as part of the Maple Lake High School choir. He has been a part of Irish Mentors for the last two years and he has been a member of the honor society since the eighth grade. He was part of the One Act Play team up until this year when he decided to try speech instead. He'll perform in the discussion category where he and fellow students will be tasked with coming up with the best solution to a problem, he said.

He said he has enjoyed and benefited from all his extracurricular endeavors. He enjoys the teamwork he's experienced as part of the choir, learning to work together and perform as a group; he's learned leadership skills as part of the Irish Mentors, and he has learned how to give back to the community. This year as part of Irish Mentors, he helped put together numerous Thanksgiving and Christmas baskets that were distributed to families in the community who would otherwise do without over the holidays.

He's seen some success in his activities too. His One Act Play team advanced as far as sections one year and the choir went to contest as an ensemble and received an excelled rating. Lind himself received a superior rating as a soloist singing "Danny Boy."

Athletics

Fynboh has participated in a variety of sports throughout her high school career including cross country, track and field, basketball, and softball. She said basketball is her favorite, but one of her favorite memories happened in softball. "We were going into the last inning down by a lot and we almost came back. We fell just short, but it was so much fun. Everyone got so excited hitting and getting on base. It was just a really fun atmosphere."

Another memorable moment for Fynboh was when the Irish track team won the conference title.

"Sports has taught me to push through adversity and have a work ethic for something and I enjoy it," she said.

Lind has participated in track and cross country since the seventh grade, and he has been in basketball since elementary school. He said he can't choose a favorite sport as he likes them all equally. He's been most successful in cross country where he went to state two years in a row - his junior and senior year - but his most memorable experience wasn't what he would call a success.

“It was my first time on the varsity track team. We were at an indoor meet, and they needed a miler. I was a seventh grader running against juniors and seniors. I came in dead last by 600 meters. It was an absolute massacre, but it was memorable,” he said.

He’s had other memorable moments on the sports field as well. Last year, he said he would have gone to state in track if he hadn’t been facing the No. 2 and No. 5 runners in the state. It didn’t help that it was so hot, he claimed the rubber on his shoes were starting to melt.

He said sports has taught him how to stay physically fit and how to “keep pushing when you think you have nothing left.”

Why they do it

Being so active can take its toll, but both Lind and Fynboh said they wouldn’t have it any other way.

“When I was little, I think my parents wanted to give me something to do and over time I learned to enjoy being active,” Fynboh said.

She said it helps that her parents, Jeff, and Kim, are so supportive.

“They come to as many games as they can. So far, my dad has made it to all my basketball games this year, even the ones that are an hour away.”

She admits that she tends to procrastinate sometimes when it comes to homework and other duties, but by utilizing study hall and working hard, she makes it work.

For Lind, it’s either stay active or “sit on the couch all day long. When I was young, I was either really sick or ready to go. I prefer being active to being sick, so that keeps me going,” he said.

Lind’s parents Liz and Jamie have been equally supportive.

“They come to all my meets and games and cheer me on. During the off season my dad will sometimes bike behind me when I run to keep in shape,” he said.

Lind said he makes his busy schedule work by utilizing his time well during the school day. Somehow, he still finds plenty of time to relax when he gets home, he said.

Both Fynboh and Lind also have jobs outside of school. Fynboh works at Caribou Coffee in Buffalo and Lind does tile setting with his dad in the summer. Fynboh also helps with local youth basketball camps and Lind volunteers at the St. Timothy Church and the school whenever an opportunity arises.

“I feel very honored and lucky to have the opportunity to represent Maple Lake High School to the best of my ability,” Fynboh said.

“It feels pretty good,” Lind said. “It feels nice to represent the school.”
